Family Connection: Today your child learned that the word “true” means that something really is that way. “False” is saying something that is not really that way. Making false claims is wrong and will not make us happy. A “contradiction” is when you say that something “is” and “is not” at the same time. Contradictions are impossible and don’t work in the real world. Objective truth is true for everyone. It cannot be true for you and false for me. That’s a contradiction.
